In the heart of the picturesque Mosel Valley, where the river meanders through steep, vine-covered hillsides, resides one of Germany's most acclaimed winemakers: Marc Schommertz. His passion for Riesling and Pinot Noir, coupled with an unwavering dedication to the unique terroir of his vineyards, has earned him international recognition and a reputation as a master of his craft.

Schommertz's journey into the world of winemaking began in his childhood. Growing up in a family with a long tradition of winegrowing, he developed a deep appreciation for the vines and the art of crafting fine wines. After completing his studies in oenology, he returned to his family's estate in the village of Klotten, determined to continue the legacy of his ancestors.

Schommertz's vineyards are situated on some of the most challenging slopes in the Mosel Valley. The steep inclines and rocky soils present unique challenges, but they also contribute to the exceptional character of his wines. Schommertz believes that great wines are born from the intimate connection between the terroir and the winemaker's passion and dedication.

Riesling is Schommertz's signature grape variety. He is renowned for his ability to craft Rieslings that showcase the full spectrum of the grape's potential, from bone-dry to lusciously sweet. His Rieslings are known for their intense minerality, vibrant acidity, and complex fruit flavors that range from citrus and stone fruit to tropical notes.

In addition to his mastery of Riesling, Schommertz has also gained a reputation as one of Germany's leading Pinot Noir producers. His Pinot Noirs are elegant and balanced, with a velvety texture, bright acidity, and a rich array of red and black fruit flavors. Schommertz believes that Pinot Noir is a grape variety that thrives in the cool climate of the Mosel Valley, and he is dedicated to showcasing its potential.

Schommertz's wines have received numerous accolades and awards. His Rieslings have been consistently rated among the best in the world, earning him a place among the elite group of winemakers known as the "Riesling Grand Cru." His Pinot Noirs have also gained international recognition, proving that he is equally adept at crafting both white and red wines of exceptional quality.

Beyond his winemaking skills, Schommertz is also a passionate advocate for the Mosel Valley. He is committed to preserving the unique traditions and culture of the region and to promoting the Mosel Valley as one of the world's great winegrowing destinations.

Marc Schommertz is a true master of his craft. His unwavering dedication to Riesling and Pinot Noir, coupled with an intimate understanding of the terroir of the Mosel Valley, has resulted in a portfolio of wines that are both elegant and expressive. Whether you are a seasoned wine enthusiast or new to the world of fine wines, discovering the wines of Marc Schommertz is an experience not to be missed.
